

Try again once you are ready.

Required to pass: 80% or higher

You can retake this quiz up to 3 times every 8 hours.

Back to Week 1

Retake

1. Which revision control system requires a user to lock a file when it is checked out, so that other developers cannot work on it easily at the same time?

0 / 1 point

☐

git

☐

Subversion

☐

RCS

☒

CVS

This should not be selected

CVS does not require a lock

2. Which revision control systems have a central repository which may be on a network server (Select all answers that apply):

0 / 1 point

☐

git

This should not be selected

All git repositories are technically equal; authoritative is a political term

☐

CVS

This should be selected

☐

Subversion

This should be selected

☐

RCS

Un-selected is correct

3. When using git:

0 / 1 point

☐

Artificial intelligence and automated testing servers determine which of conflicting change sets should be used

☒

Everyone is equal, there is no overall responsible figure

This should not be selected

There are structures and governance requiried

☐

Conflicts between different developers require manual examination and fixing by a maintainer

☐

Conflicts between different developers become impossible

4. Select the true statement:

1 / 1 point

☒

It is possible to convert Git repositories for use by Subversion and CVS

Correct

This can be done

☐

It is impossible to convert Git repositories for use by Subversion and CVS

5. Select the true statement:

1 / 1 point

☐

It is impossible to import (convert) CVS and Subversion repositories into Git

☒

It is possible to import (convert) CVS and Subversion repositories into Git

Correct

We have exercises on this

